CK are on our permanent agency preferred supplier list and we ask them for help when needed with our hard to fill roles.

What sets CK apart from other suppliers?

They provide help when needed and do not bombard us with calls or emails otherwise. And they do not use the 'sell' approach which we appreciate.

I personally have always found CK good to work with. When they are provided with a role to work on they always communicate via the correct channels and follow our procedures.
